

Time Stamping Your Posts

A handy feature available on your Edublog is the option to change the date and time of your post. Let's say, for instance, you want to post an assignment for your students, but don't want them to view until the following week. Simple solution! Click on the Edit link under Published on (right-hand column under Keep this post private). The link will change from Edit to Cancel – and you will now have a dropdown calendar with date and time. Pretty cool, no?!?

Write Post

Title

Improving Quality of Student Comments

Permalink: <http://blogwalker.edublogs.org/2008/05/18/improving-qual...udent-comments/> Edit

Post Add media: Visual HTML

Format  B I ABC

As I move through the 31-Comment Challenge (ok, I'm behind), I've been thinking about ways to help students improve their commenting skills. Via Donna DesRoches's "Blogging and Reading Comprehension Strategies", I found a great free resource to provide some scaffolding for young bloggers: Comprehension Strategy Posters provided by ReadingLady.com.

The posters are available in both Word and PDF formats and include:

Path:

Tags

Add new tag

Separate tags with commas

Tags used on this post:

Blogging Classroom Tech Tips comments reading strategies

Categories

View this Post

Publish Status

Published

Keep this post private

Published on: May 18, 2008 at 9:12 am Cancel

May  18

2008

09 : 12

Last edited by blogwalker on May 18, 2008 at 3:21 pm

Related

- See Comments on this Post
- Manage All Comments
- Manage All Posts
- Manage All Categories
- Manage All Tags
- View Drafts