

Create blog

1. Go to Edublogs.org sign up page
2. Enter your details, your blog details and then click Start blogging

The image shows a hand-drawn representation of the Edublogs.org sign-up form. It is divided into two main sections: "Your details:" and "Your blog:". In the "Your details:" section, there are four input fields: "username:" with the value "sambc16d", "password:" with masked characters, "e-mail:" with the value "optional for students", and "confirm password:" with masked characters. A red arrow points to the "e-mail:" field with the text "Don't add your email address". In the "Your blog:" section, there are several fields: "blog domain:" with "sambc16d" and ".edublogs.org" next to it, "blog title:" with "Sam's Blog", "blog type:" with a dropdown menu set to "Student", "human verification:" with a box containing "ive scarp" and a small image of the words, and a text box below it also containing "ive scarp". To the right of the "blog title:" field is a "select a language" dropdown menu set to "English". At the bottom left, there is a checked checkbox next to the text "I Agree with terms of service". At the bottom right, there is a large orange button with a play icon and the text "Start blogging".

Navigating between blog dashboards

Once your teacher approves your request to join the class you will be added as user to the class blog and your student blog.

This means you will have access to both the class blog and your student blog dashboard. You will see less menu items if you are logged into the class blog dashboard.

To publish posts you need to be in the dashboard of your student blog.

Changing blog dashboards is as simple as:

1. Go to My Sites dropdown menu in your admin bar.
2. Click on the dashboard of the blog you want to access.

Finding class mates blogs

The easiest way for you to read posts on your friend's blog is to add the class blog widget to your sidebar. The class blog widget provides a handy link to all student blogs attached to Class Blog.

You just need to click on the link to easily go to a class mates blog.

CLASS BLOGS

Adding the class blog widget is as simple as:

1. Go Appearance > Widgets.

2. Add the class blog widget to the desired sidebar.

3. The widget will automatically open.

4. Select 'No' under Public only if you are using private blogs (1), alphabetical (2), the number of blogs (3) and then click Save.

- Any time more student blogs are added to the Class blog you update the Class blog list by opening up the Class blog widget and clicking Save.
